

Refugees from Acre in Famagusta around 1300

David Jacoby

Approximately one hundred individuals living in Famagusta around 1300 can be securely identified as former residents of Acre - a sizeable section of the city's population. In this paper the Acre community's former presence in Acre, their ethnic identity, occupations, and collective contribution to the economy of Famagusta will be explored.